Dogs most likely snuggled in owners' beds

Have you seen your dog lately? According to the American Kennel Club, chances are your canine companion is lying comfortably in your bed. An AKC survey found that 45% of people with dogs allow their pup to sleep in their bed. About 20% of dogs get their rest in crates, while 17% have their own dog beds. About 14% close their eyes at random spots in the home, the survey indicated.
